

Hotel Crescent Court Introduces Dressing-Room to Guest-Room service

Hotel Crescent Court has partnered with Stanley Korshak to bring guests the "Dressing-Room to Guest-Room" service

Hotel Crescent Court in Uptown Dallas has partnered with Stanley Korshak, the largest independent department store in the country to create the new "Dressing-Room to Guest-Room" service.

The service allows guests to make an appointment with the hotel to meet with a Stanley Korshak stylist. The stylist will then create a profile for the guest detailing measurements, sizes, favorite fits, cuts and looks, as well as color palates, designers, and the occasion the outfit is for. Guests can even choose shoes and accessories to go with the finished outfit.

Everything will be brought to the guests' room where they can try on the clothes and purchase anything they'd like. The service also comes with a tailor for the new designer duds to ensure everything fits just right. Note: A $3,000 minimum purchase is required.

Located in the heart of uptown Dallas, the hotel is situated nearby the Dallas Arts District with easy access to shopping, dining and entertainment. There are 191 rooms and 29 suites, 11 dining locations, spa, and fitness center. Also located on the property is the members-only Crescent Club, similar to the exclusivity of a country club with stylish amenities, including an outdoor swimming pool, 17 event spaces encompassing, and special programming.

The hotel is currently undergoing a 30 million dollar renovation. Dallas-based interior design firm, Waldrop+Nichols, is working to redesign Hotel Crescent Court while Dallas-based Michelle Meredith & Associates is redesigning the spa. Work is set to be completed fall 2017.
